Cost Benefits of Adding dTective Forensics Solutions to Your Agency

Spend Less Time in Court, Process Your Case Load in Less Time, Limit Your Agencies Liability and Increase Public Relations

With budgets tight it's important to make the smart investments that help you efficiently process your case load so you get the right people off the street quickly and with more confidence.

dTective allows you to get the most from your multimedia evidence by enabling you to expose hidden details and analyze your evidence more precisely. With a better understanding of the assets available, you can more confidently decide the direction of the case. And since a large majority of guilty suspects plea out (common estimates are as high as 95%) when presented with this evidence, you will more effectively process your caseload and spend less time in court which greatly lowers your agencies investigation costs. Depending on the size of your agencies, this can add up to hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

Additionally, forensic video clarification and analysis is commonly used to defend agencies in officer misconduct cases that can expose them to lawsuits in the millions, greatly impacting your operating budget. These types of lawsuits also have a negative impact on your public relations with the community you protect. Instead, you can be announcing to your community that you have invested in these state-of-art CSI type tools and create a positive effect that optimizes your existing PR investments. When you add up all the savings from closing your cases faster, avoiding prolonged court expenses, and expensive law suits, it becomes clear how dTective is a cost effective solution with a high ROI for your agency.

Ocean Systems provides the market leading tools for processing your multimedia evidence from proprietary digital and analog video security systems, in-car cameras, still cameras, audio recording devices and latent prints. Additionally, professional certification is available through LEVA who has a training lab outfitted with our equipment. Reputable certification is important. If you ever find yourself presenting evidence in court, you want to be properly prepared to defend your evidence. More information on LEVA is included in this package.
